Inventory of School Policies and Practices
Related to Student Failure and Dropping Out

This inventory was developed to serve as a working tool to help local education agencies to review existing policies and practices in six different areas that may be negatively affecting student performance, especially in grades 7-12. The six areas are: instruction, discipline, support services, attendance, student activities, and school/community relations. The inventory represents a direct response to school research, publications, and dialogue on the need to develop more positive learning environments for all students.

The content of the inventory was developed under a grant from the Education Commission of the States allowing input from a thirteen member task force and 237 student dropouts enrolled in seven different alternative schools throughout Iowa. Time limitations naturally prevented an exhaustive review of all policies and practices and potential alternatives. Therefore, the content is considered a beginning base to work from and should be revised and modified to accommodate new information to best meet the needs of local practitioners.

The format of the inventory identifies a policy or practice, the potential negative effect on students, and possible alternatives to the policy or practice. It allows the user to identify whether or not the policy or practice is a perceived problem and what action should be taken locally.

Local administrators and school board members are encouraged to use this inventory to gain information to help design local plans for at-risk student services. Students, teachers, parents, business persons, community agencies, and other interested persons could be involved to help develop consensus on local problems and solutions to the problems. The questionnaire in this inventory, which was used to help develop it, serves as an example of how information could be collected from students at the local level. Other suggestions for use of the inventory include:

- Local boards of education could schedule time to review one section of the inventory at a time during regularly scheduled meetings. This process may be more productive than trying to do the entire inventory in one setting.

- Involve all professional staff in the process of responding to the inventory through scheduled staff development. Allow time for the staff to complete the entire inventory or one section at a time. Encourage staff to make recommendations, allow time for discussion of the recommendations, and establish group consensus for final decisions. Prioritize decisions and set goals that can be realistically accomplished given the time available.

- Develop a similar format, identifying local policies for each education level, and have students and other community persons analyze the policies with regard to negative effect on students and suggest potential alternatives to the policies.

- Revise the enclosed student questionnaire and use it with all students. Prioritize policies and practices by using the total number of student responses. Specifically work on the top ten or top five policies depending on local capability.

Instruction

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Local Analysis
			Problem Yes/No	Objective
Minimum course loads for all students.	Causes students who are not ready for full course loads to fail in one or more classes. Encourages truancy/tardiness.	Allow reduced loads for students in special cases after conferences with parents/guardians.
Teaching styles and learning styles of students not matched.	Establishes stressed relationships between students and teachers. Reduces student performance. Establishes an "I can't learn attitude." Causes discipline problems.	Provide collegial teaming to improve instruction. Allow time for matching teaching styles and learning styles. Schedule students based on teaching/ learning styles. Allow students to change teachers, especially when failure exists and teacher/ student conflict restricts learning.
Tracking. Ability grouping.	Characterizes some students as "losers." Locks students into ability groups, preventing movement into other ability groups. Creates feelings of inadequacy. Limits the perception of students about their potential ability and aspirations for future opportunities.	Group students flexibly, allowing mixed ability groups and dynamic, cooperative learning. Allow voluntary course selection with guidance.

Instruction

| Policies and/or Practices | Negative Effects | Alternative | Local Analysis | |
			Problem Yes/No	Objective
Promotion based on strict credit attainment to achieve grade level.	Causes students who do not reach strict attainment level to repeat entire grade. Establishes student doubts that they belong in school.	Promote students on the basis of partial credit attainments. Require students to repeat only deficient areas. Establish alternative promotion programs, allowing students to catch up to age peers by Saturday schools, before school/after school tutoring, etc.
No more than two credits allowed to be earned by correspondence or equivalency programs from other institutions.	Limits options for completing a high school education. Discourages students from trying.	Allow unlimited transfer of credits as long as the credits are judged equivalent to local credits.
K-12 retention.	Reduces self-esteem. Causes permanent negative effect on performance.	Transfer students to a classroom with fewer students, more individual attention, and special resources. Provide competency-based curriculum in multi-grade groupings. Provide an early readiness program to overcome development lags. Practice no retention after first grade; individualize programs starting at grade 9 based on projected plans (academic, personal/social, career/vocational) and parent/guardian input. Allow promotion with remediation in a given skill area, possibly in an alternative setting.

Instruction

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Local Analysis
			Problem Yes/No	Objective
Absence of transition programs for students experiencing a change of buildings and staff as they move from one level of education to another or as they move laterally.	Reduces student's sense of place or belonging.	Establish transition programs to assist students experiencing: a) a change of buildings and staff (elementary to junior high, junior high to senior high, senior high to post-secondary) b) restructuring of grades c) departmentalization d) transfer between school districts e) returning from long term illnesses or institutionalization
Increased requirements for graduation. Increased ratio of mandatory classes to electives. Expanding the number of classes that students must take in a given day. Scheduling all students to graduate from high school by the age of 17 or 18.	Increases chances of failure for those not academically inclined. Restricts student options in elective areas such as vocational education. Increases student stress in trying to meet schedule demands. Increases chances of failure in one or more classes. Causes difficulties in meeting homework demands.	Allow mandatory requirements to be met through a network of electives, including vocational education. Allow articulation with other secondary and post-secondary institutions to satisfy graduation requirements. Expand options to meet the demand for increased requirements, such as expanded school year, Saturday school, extended graduation program to age 21, evening school. Provide students a choice to graduate by the age of 21.

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Problem Yes/No	Objective
Defining the school day as 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. only.	Eliminates options for students who must work to satisfy basic needs. .	Develop schedules to accommodate students' needs.
Passive teaching practices such as lectures, monitoring seat work, and prepa- ration for assignments.	Limits student achievement Establishes and reinforces student passiveness. Negates students attaining and main- taining a sense of relevancy.	Increase the interaction between students and teachers and students and administrators by open discussions in classes, evaluative and opinion questioning, feedback on work performed, and more projects necessitating people/community interaction.
Classroom instruction, guidance and teacher/ student interaction that is not sensitive to gender differences and that favors boys over girls.	Lowers performance levels of female students. Limits curriculum choices of females. Leads to low self- esteem of female students. Causes pregnancy to become an escape mechanism. Channels females into training leading to lower- paid jobs.	Provide gender-free training for staff to change classroom instruction, guidance, and student/teacher interaction. Encourage females to enter nontraditional training areas, such as science, math, com- puter courses, manage- rial and technical trades, and profes- sional career areas. Provide counseling to enhance girls' self- esteem. Provide instruction that encourages group activities and collabora- tion that complements female cognitive development.

No alternative education plan for those who drop out of school.	Reduces number of students who return to school. Dropouts experience high unemployment and/or low entry level employment. Reduces participation in community activity. Contributes to criminal activity.	Follow up all school dropouts. Develop individual plans for students to complete a high school education by existing resources. Coordinate with business and industry and community agencies to provide an alternative school.
Requiring all students to fulfill physical education requirements before graduation.	Causes students to fail physical education because they are embarrassed by the clothes they have to wear, are afraid to shower, can't afford proper dress or foot attire, or are embarrassed by showering together.	Provide alternative ways for students to complete physical education objectives, such as personal exercise programs, participation in community sponsored activities, etc. Provide proper physical education attire for students who can't afford it. Provide for private showering if needed, or eliminate requirement to shower. Provide clean, neat clothing for students who need it and will accept it. Allow a variety of attire for physical education to accommodate students.
Reassigning teachers through reduction-in-force actions to positions in which they have little interest or motivation.	Negative attitudes of teachers conveyed to students. Causes teachers to do an inadequate job and students to lose interest.	Provide staff development to prepare teachers to function adequately.

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Problem Yes/No	Objective
Grading system based on grade points and reports by letter grades only.	Discourages students because grades are not sensitive to or do not reflect student progress. Creates inconsistent demands on students. Reduces self-esteem. Reinforces feelings of alienation.	Provide for alternative grading practices, including checklists of competency attainment, and letters to parents identifying specific progress. Establish consistency between teachers in how grades are calculated.
Prerequisite courses.	Discourages students from taking courses and trying new areas.	Establish prerequisites only where absolutely necessary. Allow exceptions to prerequisites where student backgrounds may suffice for prerequisites. Allow exploratory periods.
Unlimited homework assignments. Applied practice and study exercises expected to be conducted as homework the majority of the time.	Causes slow-learning students to be overwhelmed by homework. Results in failing grades/loss of credits. Prevents students from developing adequate study habits.	Establish class time for practice and study exercises. Provide after school, before school, and weekend supervised study areas. Implement a phase-in system, gradually increasing homework expectations from elementary through secondary. Allow reduced class loads, allowing students more time to keep up and do well.

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Problem Yes/No	Objective
Discipline and punishment carried out by teachers and principals only.	Reduces students' responsibility for good behavior. Causes students to feel powerless and alienated.	Allow student input into designing rules and punishment for behavior. Allow student involvement in discipline and punishment. Meet with students throughout the school year to discuss rules, responsibility, and plans for change. Implement "quality of school life" programs.
Teachers in departmentalized programs with their own rules for discipline.	Creates different expectations in each class, confusion, and mixed reactions.	Establish common rules that all staff can agree upon. Limit the number of rules to as few as possible to avoid over emphasis on rules and punishment.
Counseling services limited to crisis situations. Counseling staff required to do administrative assignments, taking time away from direct interaction with students.	Limits students' access to counselors. Students recognize counselors as not being helpful. Reduces help when students need it.	Provide counselors with para-professional and secretarial help to encourage more time with students. Establish a counseling program involving all students. Establish counseling as a service across all staff. Lower counselor/ student ratios. Target students for increased help.

Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Problem Yes/No	Objective
Corporal punishment applied liberally by administrators and/or teachers.	Establishes fear in students about attending school. Creates feelings of being abused or misused.	Establish clear guidelines on when corporal punishment can be used. Apply corporal punishment conservatively.
Absence of clear, written communication on rules and discipline.	Creates misunderstanding about the consequences of behavior. Prevents students from filing a grievance and participating in due process.	Clearly communicate expected behavior and consequences of positive/negative behavior to students and parents. Reward proper, expected behavior. Establish grievance procedures. Establish written guidelines for students and parents on due process and rights and responsibilities. Incorporate model rules found in work places. Categorize rules by consequences/rewards. Example: Behavior disruptive to the learning environment yields severe consequences. Behavior not disruptive to the learning environment yields flexible problem solving.

Attendance policy which allows out-of-school suspensions and/or expulsions. Students encouraged to drop out of school instead of offered options.	Gives students a reward for poor behavior. Has little correction effect. Excuses students from doing school work/homework. Encourages students to stay away from school.	Contract with community organizations to promote attendance and offer personal attention to truant students. Positively encourage attendance by home visits, telephone calls, attendance team to monitor truants, individual contracts for improving behavior, intervention counseling. Recognize and reward good attendance. Follow due process if student expulsions are unavoidable. Provide in-school suspensions in which the education program continues. Place students in alternative settings to continue work, such as Saturday school, school within a school.
Computerized scheduling with no personal contact between staff and students.	Causes personality conflicts. Causes adjustment problems in trying to meet expectations.	At minimum, allow all at-risk students to schedule classes through personal contact. Allow for a mix of different grade level students.

			Problem Yes/No	Objective
Scheduling students to go from class to class without spending more than one class with the same group of students or the same teacher.	Offers little opportunity for consistent interaction with peers or same teacher. Causes students to believe they won't be missed and cut classes. Places students in classes with few or no friends.	Use flexible block scheduling, reducing fragmentation of school day.
Special education placement without required pre-staffing with students and parents.	Causes students and parents to be overwhelmed and confused when involved in staffing, not knowing their options and rights. Lessens student and parent control in placement in and leaving programs.	Complete pre-staffings to inform parents and students of their rights and provide orientation to staffing. Coach parents and students on questions to ask.
Pregnant students counseled out of regular school.	Diminishes student rights. Creates feelings of discrimination. Lowers self esteem. Limits education options.	Allow pregnant teens to remain in regular program if so desired and medically safe. Allow pregnant teens to make individual choices regarding regular vs. alternative schooling. Allow adjusted scheduling and/or modified school day. Provide separate programs for pregnant teens on a choice basis. Link day care services with school to allow teen parents to complete schooling.

Results in sudden or prolonged failure from substance use/ abuse behavior. Decreases feelings of self- worth. Increases frustration in seeking and finding help. Lessens ability to identify advocates in the school who can help.	Provide assistance and referral services by student assistance teams and other means. Attendance

			Local Analysis
Policies and/or Practices	Negative Effects	Alternative	Problem Yes/No	Objective
A limit on the number of absences any student may have for illness, out-of-school suspensions, and travel.	Promotes truancy in students who know they have a certain number of days they can be absent. Ignores cultural, religious, and important family functions. Ignores health problems that students and parents cannot control.	Place no quotas on absences. Expect all students to attend the required days. Provide for religious, cultural, and family involvement activities, accepting parent requests for absences. Reward good attendance, including students who have acceptable absences. Assist parents and students immediately if an unexcused absence occurs and student performance is at risk. Establish a plan for how make-up work will get completed.
Punishing student truancy by out-of-school suspension or lowered grades.	Pushes students out of school. Creates a feeling of not belonging. Establishes a posture that the opportunity to learn will be taken away rather than fostered. Indicates that learning will not be recognized if other behavior is unacceptable.	Provide assistance and referral services by student assistance teams and other means. Provide reasonable consequences for truancy violations. Provide opportunities to make up work by Saturday school, evening, or early bird programs. Assist students to get to school. Create incentive programs to encourage attendance. Reward academic achievement and behavior separately.

Dress code insensitive to social changes, cultural diversity, or religious backgrounds.	Establishes feelings of nonacceptance. Promotes peer pressure to not respect certain dress. Encourages students to challenge the system.	Allow any dress as long as it does not promote profanity or negatively affect the learning environment. Establish different dress days to reflect work place dress, cultural differences, etc.
Limiting enrollment in extra-curricular activities. Participation fees and insensitive participation rules.	Reinforces a feeling in students that they are not good enough. Discourages students from wanting to enter extra-curricular activity. Embarrasses low-income students who are unable to pay. Decreases student participation.	Provide extra-curricular activities, encouraging maximum involvement of all students on a no-fee basis. Provide enough groups to accommodate all interested students.
