

REACHING THE WOUNDED STUDENT CONFERENCE

JUNE 25-28
2017

ROSEN CENTRE HOTEL
ORLANDO, FLORIDA

A TRAUMA-INFORMED
APPROACH TO HELPING YOUTH
BEYOND
AT RISK

PRESENTED BY:

Many young people today carry wounds with them as they head out to school each day, interact with friends and family, and experience life in their communities. These wounds are the result of trauma, many times experienced in the form of poverty, abuse, violence, loss, and family dysfunction. Research shows that this trauma has a direct effect on cognitive function, emotional health, and interpersonal capacity. Educators, counselors, administrators, and youth practitioners can implement trauma-informed policies and approaches to their work that not only move wounded youth toward healing, but have a positive effect on overall student achievement and performance.
