The Diploma Planning Institute (DPI) for School Leadership and Administration Teams on August 21-22, 2017, is a two-day working event that guides school teams through a process that yields a practical improvement plan to increase student success with locally specific action steps that can be implemented in the coming school year. During the two-day event, school teams will analyze their local data and challenges, review research-based interventions to increase all student engagement and develop locally specific plans that can be integrated with existing school improvement plans and immediately activated.

Administrators use local data and their knowledge of their students and schools to apply effective strategies and build a local, customized plan for increased student achievement and overall success.
